DURING THE DISCUSSION at a recent Planning Commission meeting on landscaping plans for the new Federated Department Store furniture outlet that is planned at 600 E. Hamilton (across from Breuner's), names of various trees were bandied about very glibly. But we were lost in the shuffle.

We have never laid claim to being an expert in tree culture. We have a very limited knowledge in the field and have difficulty picking out any but the basic standard brands.

For example, we recognize a pine tree when we see one, although we probably don't know the species.

And we aren't too bad when it comes to identifying fruit trees, provided they are bearing at the time.

The other night, however, there was considerable discussion about where the GINKGOS would fit into the landscape plan for the new Federated store.

Now, we know we are showing our ignorance. But it won't be the first time.

But Ginkgo?

Shucks, we didn't even know how to spell it, let alone know what one looked like.

But we are not alone in this.

Obviously there are many of you who are acquainted with a Ginkgo but a surprising number of people of our acquaintance are as unfamiliar with that particular tree as we were. We know. We asked 'em.

And really the dictionary wasn't much help.

"GINKGO–a large ornamental gymnospermous tree, native to China, having fan-shaped leaves, fleshy fruit with edible nuts, also called maidenhair tree."

Anyway there are to be some Ginkgos around the new store.

IN OUR "SURVEY" about Ginkgos, we did find someone who knew the variety....right in our office.

Barbara Price, the college gal who works part-time for The Press, knew about Ginkgos. She reported she had learned about the tree in a biology class.

But she lost a bet to us in the spelling of the name.

We won't collect because we took an unfair advantage of her.

She claimed there was no "g" in it.

We knew better.

You see, we had looked up the word in the dictionary during our "research" just a short time before we asked her to spell it.

Now you know, Barbara, why we didn't demand immediate payment of our bet.

-0-

ANOTHER TREE WITH which we are fairly familiar is the eucalyptus.

But we have never been able to spell it the first time around.

We always have to verify our efforts by the dictionary before we dare let the word stand.

Most of the time we have all the letters right, but they are generally in the wrong places.

UNLESS A POLITICAL miracle occurs, it appears there will be no redistricting for the state senate and assembly this hear.

There will be a reshuffling of the congressional districts to allow for the state's growth, but the gerrymandering of the state legislative districts will have to wait. Political bigwigs of both parties in the county have joined together to protest.

Although the big politicos in the county of both parties have screamed to high heaven

TOWER NUMBER TWO--Construction is scheduled to start next month on a 10-story office building at the PruneYard to be located between "The Towers", the 18-story office building now existing, and Campbell Avenue. The new structure (depicted in the architect's sketch above), will have 125,000 square feet of office space.

AT THE PRUNEYARD

Construction to start in March on new tower

Construction is scheduled to begin on March 15 on the $2.4 million 10-story Tower No. 2 at the PruneYard-Towers development of Fred Sahadi – Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., at Bascom and Campbell avenues in Campbell.

The new office building, which will have 125,000 square feet of space, will follow the existing 19-story "The Towers" in design and will be located between the "Towers" and Campbell Ave. Completion is expected by October 15, 1972. The area has already been fenced and preliminary site work for the project has been started.

Architectural plans for the building have been developed by Walker-Moody, AIA, an architectural firm of San Francisco. The new tower building will be 110-feet in height. The building will face Campbell Avenue but will have an address of 1999 S. Bascom Ave.

The new tower building will complete the PruneYard development in its entirety which is spread over 34 acres. The development will then contain 650,000 square feet of net rentable space equally divided between professional office and retail sales areas.

According to Sahadi, the professional office space will house in excess of 2000 persons and the retail sales area will develop retail sales in excess of $30 million annually.

The PruneYard development has become the landmark of the community in the short while it has been in existence and has offered a new approach to retailing.

Its Gran Plaza offers an amphitheater with more than 1000 seating capacity where civic organizations can hold various festivals and events. During the summer months, concerts under the stars have been scheduled.

COUNCIL SPLITS 3-2

"New" Amato plan goes back to Commission

By a 3-2 vote on Monday night, the City Council referred back to the Planning Commission the controversial site plan for the 31-acre Amato property.

The Commission will review the modifications that have been made by Dura Style Homes since approval of the original plan in December.

The modified plan will go before the Planning Commission next Tuesday, February 22. The Commission meets on Tuesday instead of Monday because of the holiday (Washington's birthday).

The split vote of the Council came over the interpretation of whether the changes in the original plan were of a minor or major nature.

The Council by a 3-2 vote gave first reading to the ordinance allowing the original site plan on January 10.

Second reading (adoption) was scheduled for January 24 but was delayed until Monday, February 14, to allow the Planning Commission to hold

AT THURSDAY'S LUNCHEON

Superintendent to explain school tax hike to CofC

JIM D'AVIS
—CofC speaker

Featured speaker at the monthly Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting this Thursday, Feb. 17, will be Jim D'Avis, superintendent of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, who will discuss the forthcoming district tax election on Feb. 29.

The luncheon will be held at Zorba's at noon and will be the first monthly membership luncheon meeting for 1972 presided over by Al La Plante, 1972 president.

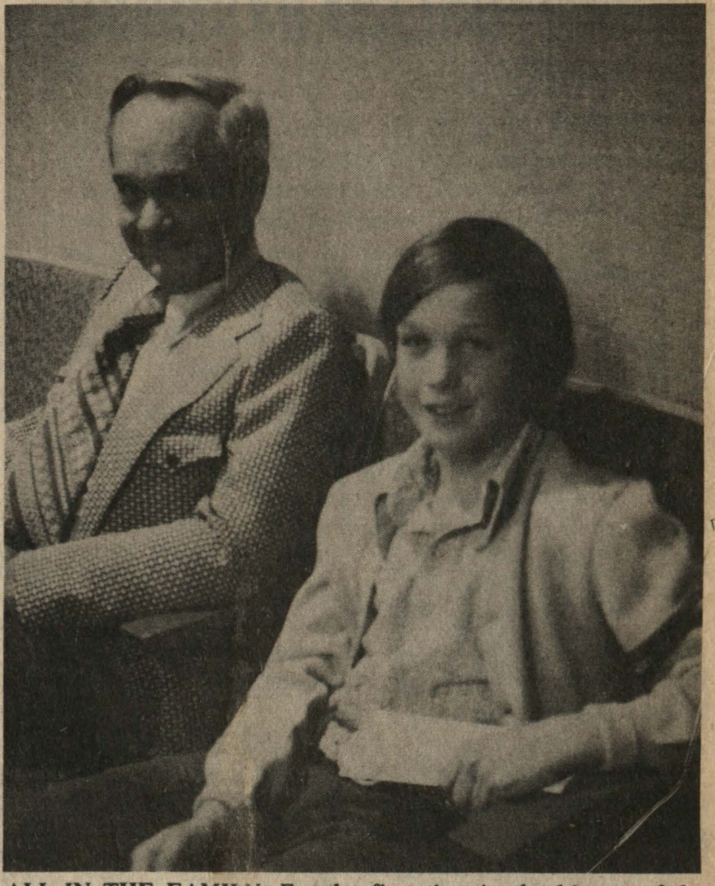
D'Avis, who recently was officially designated as superintendent by board action, after serving since October 1970 as acting superintendent, will discuss the reasons for the tax election which is to be held on Tuesday, Feb. 29.

On that date, the electorate of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District will be asked to approve a 50-cent tax increase to the present rate of $2.55. If the voters do not approve the new $3.05 rate, the district operational tax rate will revert to $1.80 on June 30, 1972, unless another election is held before then.

The trustees, in recommending that the present tax rate be increased to $3.05, have maintained that the present $2.55 rate per $100 assessed valuation will not permit the district to maintain the present standards.

The $3.05 tax rate, if approved by the voters on Feb. 29, will be for a three-year period.

President La Plante this week announced the following appointments of chairmen of the CofC committees for the year: Ambassadors, Jack Reilly; Beautification, Gene Borden; Budget and finance, Phil Olavarri; Commercial development, Holly Vollenweider; Community relations and special events, Betty Piper; Education, Bob Peck; Annual golf tournament, Ira Kirkorian; Governmental affairs, Gordon Craig; Industrial development, Lowell Grattan; Retail, Dan Knowles; Transportation, Ed Fabbri; Youth activities, John Copper.



ALL IN THE FAMILY--For the first time in the history of the city, a father and son will serve on official advisory commissions of the city. On the left is Don Hebard, vice-chairman of the Planning Commission. On the right is Doug Hebard, 14-year old student at Castro Junior High, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hebard, of 205 Calado, who on Monday night was appointed a member of the Youth Advisory Commission. Doug, who becomes the youngest commissioner in this city's history, was recommended for appointment by the Youth Commission from a number of applicants for the position.

Letters to school board feature meeting Thursday

Communications will highlight the agenda of the meeting of the board of trustees of Campbell Union (elementary) School District this Thursday, Feb. 17.

The board will meet at Marshall Lane School, 14114 Marilyn Lane, Saratoga, at 7 p.m.

A total of 20 letters are scheduled to be read by Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, clerk of the board, if precedent is followed at the board meeting.

Seven of the letters are from PTA and home and school club units, in most cases endorsing the tax increase election on Feb. 20 These include, Hamilton, Cypress, San Tomas, Rolling Hills and Forest Hill PTA's and Parkway and Blackford Home and School clubs.

The list also includes a letter of endorsement from the Campbell Kiwanis Club and a letter from Gordon Abbott relative to the selection of an assistant for business.

Six letters are listed on the agenda from the Campbell Elementary Teachers Association on such subjects as, interest on retroactive pay; board support for state fi-

Persons interested in helping and accepting jobs as committee chairmen are urged to attend a special meeting on Wednesday, February 23 at 3 p.m. at the Campbell City Hall, according to Betty Piper, of Marquis Travel Service, who is parade chairman assistant.

South loop plan line gets approval of City Council

Only one person in the audience came to the mike to speak on the subject when the City Council Monday night adopted the history making south loop plan line extending from Third Street to Railway Avenue, 300 feet south of Campbell Avenue.

The south loop, [illegible] Wren, public works director, explained is a duplicate of the north loop which [illegible] approved two years [illegible] The new street south of the city hall from Central [illegible] First is the first part of the [illegible] loop to be built.

He added that Sunsweet was not opposing the plan but was just concerned.

Wren reassured Domenik that the city would work with Sunsweet and that the plan was only a line on paper at the present. The purpose, he added, was to give notice to the public that the city was thinking about such a project.

ON GENERAL PLAN

Planning Commission holds public hearing tonight

Campbell Planning Commission will hold the sixth in the series of public hearings on the General Plan this Wednesday (Feb. 16) and then meet again in regular session next Tuesday, Feb. 22 (Monday is a holiday), when the revised site plan for the Amato property will be on the agenda.

The public hearing on the General Plan will be held this evening in Coventry School at 7:30 p.m. and will be broken into three parts covering three specific areas: (1) that area west of San Tomas Aquino Road (Kirkwood, etc.) (2) that area bounded by San Tomas Aquino Road, Latimer, Campbell Ave. and San Tomas Expressway, and (3) that area north of Latimer and west of San Tomas Expressway.

The purpose of the hearings on the General Plan, which have been held throughout the city, is to ascertain if the General Plan needs revising or updating in specific areas of the community.

The hearing tonight (Wednesday) will be the second held at Coventry School involving the same area. At the first hearing the Amato property was featured and the

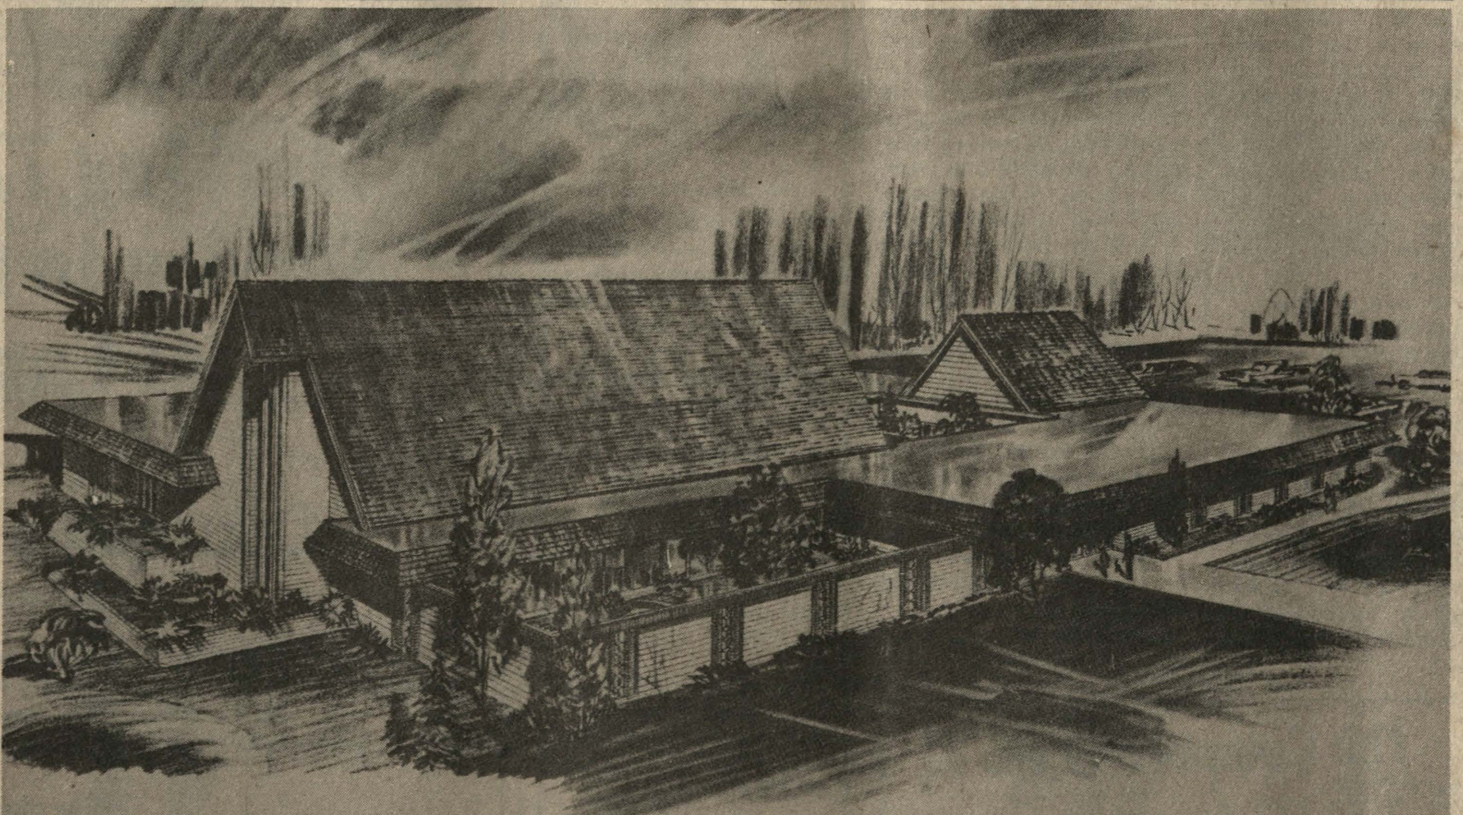
COMMISSION VACANCY

Applications for persons interested in applying for a vacancy on the Campbell Planning Commission may be picked up at City Hall, according to Dorothy Trevethan, City Clerk. Deadline for filing is February 23 with interviews to be conducted on Saturday, February 26. Applicants must be residents of the city. Two applications have been submitted to date.



PLANS APPROVED -- Construction is expected to start this summer on the first phase of the expansion of the Campbell Seventh Day Adventist Church facilities. The expansion program is estimated to cost approximately $250,000. The youth chapel and classroom facilities that are part of the first phase are expected to cost $125,000, with much volunteer labor according to Pastor Eugene Sample, who is coordinating the entire program.

The architect's sketch (above) shows the entire project, including the sanctuary, which will seat 480, that will face W. Campbell Avenue with a 90-foot setback, near the intersection of W. Campbell Avenue and San Tomas Expressway. The church property extends from Campbell Avenue to Rincon.

The exterior of the construction will be of slump stone with a concrete shake roof and there will be covered walkways connecting the various facilities.

According to Pastor Sample, the congregation will continue meeting until November, when the first phase is completed, in the facility at 65 E. Rincon Ave., which has been owned by the church since 1948. The property has been sold to House of Worship, which is part of the Chapel of South Gate.

It is planned to use the 54 x 32 youth chapel in the new facility after Nov. 1.

Pastor Sample has been in Campbell for the past 3½ years and is being assisted in the planning of the new facilities, which has been approved by the city Planning Commission, by a building committee composed of members of the congregation.

Dick Wilcox is chairman of the committee. Others on the committee are Bruce Curtis, Ben Straub, Paul Bennett, Dr. John Uniat, Bob Bush, and Dr. William Regester. Don Kirkman, of Auborn, Wash., is the architect.

Editorial

About that tax increase

On Tuesday, Feb. 29, the citizens within the Campbell Union (elementary) School District will vote on the question of whether the current district $2.55 tax rate per $100 assessed valuation should be increased by 50-cents which will establish the rate at $3.05 for the next three years.

It is very easy to generalize on either side of the question.

Those favoring the increase, for example, maintain that the increase of 50-cents is necessary to maintain the present educational program of the district. They submit that the present $2.55 rate just won't do the job.

On the other hand, those opposing the increase claim that the increase in assessed valuation in the district over the years has offset the need for raising the tax rate.

And, of course, both pros and cons insist that they want the district to offer an excellent educational program.

Obviously the issue is much more complicated than that.

There is a need for a great deal of soul searching for all of us as we examine the overall picture of the fiscal affairs of the district.

Unfortunately, school financing is such a complicated matter that the average person becomes lost in the maze of fiscal double-talk and it becomes difficult to establish a common denominator so that most of us can understand the situation.

Therefore, for the most part, we must be dependent on the figures that are furnished us and we must have confidence in the people who administer the district.

We find no fault with that.

Except, unfortunately again, there seems to be a number of unanswered questions still dangling even after the facts and figures have been presented.

We concede that a group of sincere people comprised the committee that recommended a 45-cent tax increase was necessary, and the trustees only added five-cents to this recommendation in presenting the issue to the voters.

Yet we feel that the issue is still too "iffy" to suit us.

In our opinion, there are still too many unknown factors that must be considered before a firm figure can be used to establish the amount of the raise.

In comparison to the experiences in other school districts that have faced the same situation, we cannot help but wonder about that 50-cent hike for Campbell.

Los Gatos voters just recently, for example, approved a tax hike by a thumping majority. But the tax increase was only 12-cents and the tax rate will go from $1.98 to $2.10.

Mountain View voters, on the other hand, turned down a 32-cent hike that would bring the tax rate up from $2.63 to $2.95.

And the Sunnyvale electorate said no to a 20-cent tax increase that would have raised the tax rate from $2.75 to $2.95.

We are well aware that it is unfair to compare one school district to another because conditions vary.

But we need to be sure that the 50-cents is necessary.

Let us reiterate that it is not enough to simply say that the present $2.55 tax rate is inadequate to maintain the present program of the district. More specifics are necessary.

How certain is it that the assessed valuation of the district will only go up 3% this next year?

Are there other possible sources of income that conceivably could increase the revenue of the district?

And are there any provisions that, if the school district does get additional revenue, the 50-cent tax rate increase, if approved, will not be used?

We recognize that the citizens of the district carry the responsibility of financing their educational system.

It is via the ballot box that the tax rate is set.

It is an awesome responsibility and one that should not be taken lightly, for all of us want the educational program to be the best that our tax dollar will buy.

But we must be convinced that we are getting our money's worth.

And it takes some soul-searching along with the figures.

There is another factor that should concern us all with respect to the tax increase election on Feb. 29.

Only about 20% of the voters eligible in the school district will take the time to go to the polls.

Doesn't that scare you just a bit?

That election means a great deal to all of us and yet less than 11% of the registered voters may decide the issue.

over this injustice, maintaining that the people of this county are not being adequately represented, we think that it is probably a good thing that there has been a delay in the adoption of any of the redistricting plans that have been presented so far.

They were monstrosities.

It may be that the plans that will eventually be adopted won't be much better.

But, for sure, the plans can't be any worse.

ALTHOUGH ONE OF the plans we examined quite closely was ridiculous from a geographical point of view, it offered an interesting "challenge" to us in a purely selfish and personal way.

The boundaries drawn on the map for a proposed assembly district showed that our close friends, the George Hills of Orinda would be in the same district as we would be in Campbell.

And let us tell you, that it must have taken a lot of maneuvering by the guy with the pen to draw such a district on any map.

The Orinda-Walnut Creek area is in a bulb on one end. Then a narrow strip scoots down the hills and picks up another bulb on the other end that includes Campbell.

Unbelievable.

But if that district should ever come about, we foresee that it could lead to some mighty animated discussions with our friends the Hills with respect to the merits of the candidates running in our "mutual" district.

In the past, our political discussions with the Hills have been limited to the state and national levels.

And even then they have been quite lively.

But this proposed district could open up an entirely new field for the Hills and us.

Discussionwise, we mean.

But our long-standing friendship would probably still survive.

IN LAST WEEK'S EDITORIAL concerning the need for coordination of effort among the various civic groups in the matter of providing recreational activities, Edith Morley, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission, suggested that perhaps we were a trifle unclear in one part in reference to the recent study session that was held.

We agree.

During that particular session we reported in the editorial that Mrs. Irma Reese, of the West Valley Progressive Seniors, had expressed disappointment that the community center building which had been in the original plans for Rincon Park had been eliminated.

The editorial did not mention that Mrs. Morley then had pointed out that the community center had not been eliminated. It was still in the ultimate plans.

However, the park will be improved by "phases", Edith further explained, and the community center is not part of the development of the first phases.

Maybe now we have sort cleared things up?

Probably not.

LAST WEEK, SOME OF you may recall, The Press ran a front page story describing the delay that took place before the Campbell Fire Department rolled to a fire approximately two blocks from the Campbell headquarters station on Sunnyoaks.

The house that burned was on Kenneth Avenue in a so-called "county island."

The Press story contained excerpts from a tape recording of the "conversations" that took place as the Campbell Fire Department sought to get approval from the Central Fire District to respond to the fire.

As Campbell Fire Chief George Maxwell explains this week in a letter to us, the Campbell department cannot service any unincorporated area without a direct request from Central Fire District.

It is not an "automatic" thing as is in effect with the San Jose Fire Department. Campbell and San Jose have a mutual aid pact which has been beneficial to both cities. There is no need to wait for authorization from the top.

The units of both cities just roll when called.

All of us know what time means in a fire.

-0-

WE LISTENED TO THE tape recording of the communications involved in the Kenneth Avenue fire. And we have a typed transcript of it.

It disturbs us mightily.

And it should you, too.

Especially those of you who live in "county islands" that are in the Campbell sphere.

We intend to explore the situation further.

There are some questions that need to be answered.

Why should there by any dragging of feet with lives and property endangered?

Why shouldn't the areas that can be efficiently protected by Campbell be serviced by Campbell units without waiting for some county fire brass hat to give the order?

And who has been holding up the adoption of a mutual aid pact between Campbell and the county?

When a house is burning is not the time to look for the boss man. What if he has stepped out for a minute?

It has been said that where there is smoke there is fire. And there seems to be plenty of smoke in this case.

One might say that we are burned up by a situation that shouldn't exist.

To a crisp, we might add.

a public hearing on the general plan as it affects the Amato property and make a recommendation.

The Planning Commission then recommended that the entire parcel be of a low density.

Since the first reading, Mike Engdol, of Dura Style Homes, had met with a number of the objecting residents and had agreed to increase the number of single family homes in the area and to increase the single family residential lot size to 6000 square feet, the city's minimum standard.

Councilman Dean Chamberlin said that he felt that the changes did not warrant sending the plan back to the Commission, as the new proposal was of less density than the original plan.

It would only be necessary, he maintained, to hold first reading on the new proposal.

His motion, however, to give first reading lost 3-2. Mayor Ralph Doetsch relinquished the gavel to Vice-Mayor Bill Podgorsek in order to second the motion.

Councilmen Ed Rogers, Bill Smeed and Podgorsek voted against Chamberlin's motion.

Smeed then moved to refer the modified plan to the Planning Commission. Chamberlin raised the ire of Smeed momentarily when he suggested that referring the matter to the Planning Commission appeared to be a stalling tactic. Smeed said that was an unfair comment.

Smeed's motion to refer to the Commission carried 3-2, with Chamberlin and Doetsch opposed.

CHIEF REPORTS

Dear George,

This letter is being written in hopes I may clear up some of the questions in the minds of your readers following publication in your February 9 paper of information taken from a County Communications tape concerning the January 25 fire at 645 Kenneth Avenue.

First, let me say that the information you recieved off the Santa Clara County Communications tape was authentic, and I am sure many of your readers wonder what is going on.

I'd like to assure the residents of the City of Campbell that we do not have any delay in responding to any emergency calls within our city. However, for those who live in the county, it is necessary for us to receive a direct request from Central Fire District before we can respond to any of the islands of their jurisdiction that are within the city limits of Campbell. 645 Kenneth is in one of these islands.

Unfortunately we do not have a day-to-day mutual aid agreement with Central Fire District as we do with the San Jose Fire Department. For those of you who live in these islands, please understand that you are not serviced by the Campbell Fire Department WITHOUT A DIRECT REQUEST from Central Fire District at the time of the emergency. It is very simple to receive our services--a request from Central Fire District will have our units on their way to assist you in any way possible.

George, I hope this will bring up many questions from the people living in the County islands within the city limits of Campbell, and that they become vocal enough to get some of their questions answered. They deserve better service than they are getting in these island areas within the City of Campbell.

Sincerely,
George R. Maxwell, Chief
Campbell Fire Department

There are also four letters from the West Valley Federation of Teachers on board study committees, Stull tenure act, administrative appointments and proposed package 1971-72.

Other matters on the agenda include three reports by C.E. Bradley, business manager.

Fred Peterson, administrative assistant, is also scheduled to present plans for board approval of the neighborhood parks for Rosemary, San Tomas and Capri schools. The parks are being developed by allocations from the City of Campbell.

JayCees sponsor basketball game to aid park project

In their first major fund-raising activity earmarked for the development of a picnic-barbecue-playlot complex at Rincon Park, the Campbell JayCees are sponsoring a benefit basketball game for Tuesday, Feb. 29, at the Campbell High School gym.

Pitted against the KLIV Prunes (a team of disc jockeys from radio station KLIV) will be a team composed of members of the City of Campbell's official family (councilmen and commissioners), principals and coaches of Campbell schools and JayCee members.

The JayCees have tackled the ambitious job of building the picnic-barbecue-playlot at Rincon Park that is estimated to cost $35,000.

All proceeds from the basketball game will go into the park project fund that has been opened at Wells Fargo Bank in Campbell.

Dave Valkenaar, president of the JayCees, said that a number of "stars" have already been signed to play in the game.

These include, Vice-Mayor Bill Podgorsek, Dale Scott, chairman of the Planning Commission, Al La Plante, president of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce and John Tierney, coach at Campbell Elementary School.

The Council also approved the plans for the development of neighborhood parks at Forest Hill, Rolling Hills, Hazelwood and Dover schools under the prior-approved agreement with the school district and the city.

The city allocates $10,000 to each school from bond funds and the school district maintains the parks. The school trustees had previously approved the plans.

The Council by a 3-2 vote upheld the Planning Commission denial of an entertainment center at 1065 Florence Way in an M-1-S zone. The Commission had okayed a recording studio on the site but rejected the request of J. P. Clark and Fred ReHorn on two occasions for an entertainment center. The Youth Commission had also disapproved the request.

Jack Craig, owner of adjacent properties in the area and representing 10 different tenants, told the Council that the property owners and tenants opposed the use.

Warren Brown, owner of the building, defended the applicants and suggested that the city should let the applicants give it a try.

On the vote, Councilmen Ed Rogers, Dean Chamberlin and Bill Podgorsek upheld the Planning Commission with Mayor Ralph Doetsch and Councilman Bill Smeed opposed.

The Council also on Monday authorized the State Department of Finance to make a special census of the city and approved a number of personnel proposals offered by City Manager Bob Stephens.

Cougars Corner

by Alan Carmain

COUGARS SLIP IN LAST FEW SECONDS

As Camden's Varsity Soccer team entered the game against Blackford last Tuesday, Feb. 8, they found themselves slightly handicapped.

In the battle against Branham a few weeks ago Camden's Varsity Soccer team lost their number one goalie Rich Valerga, who suffered torn ligaments in his right leg, which put him out for the last two games of the season.

Standing in for Rich Valerga was Rich Costick who did an outstanding job defending the Camden goal box.

Play got under way on the Brave's field and the Cougars hit for the first goal of the game. Rich Dodge scored with a head shot and received an assist from Jim Yegge to make it 1-0 and an edge for the Cougars.

In the second quarter a scoring attack was not mustered up by either team, leaving the score at 1-0 in favor of the Cougars.

In the third quarter the Braves shot one, good for a tying goal, to make the game into a struggle for the victory.

As the fourth quarter rolled into progress the score was all tied up 1-1. A climax came to the game as Rich Dodge fed the ball to Wes Toland who shot the ball into the very top inside of the Blackford goal box, for a goal. However, the referee who called the shot felt the ball hit the inside goal box bar, missing the goal by mere inches, which would have given the Cougars a leading point.

It appeared that there would be an over-time period as the game continued to be all tied up 1-1. This was cut short by a Blackford goal in the last few seconds of play.

As the last seconds ran out of the game the Braves shot one last desperate shot. They succeeded as the ball slipped by the leaping Camden goalie, Rich Costick. This gave the Braves a 2-1 lead and a victory.

Camden's J.V. team rallied back for a 2-1 victory over the Braves. Hitting for the goals were Jim Scheidt and Dave Sheets; giving assists were Jim Billmair, Pat Chanclor and Alan Shulman.

BRUINS BRUISE COUGAR MAT MEN

Camden High's Varsity mat men were again plagued by nine losses out of the thirteen weight divisions wrestled.

As the Cougars entered the meet against the Bruins on home ground they found themselves getting further and further behind. This led to a final score of 19-32 match score and a victory for the Branham Bruins.

Camden's only pin in the Varsity division came from Mark Gullet who pinned his opponent with only 55 seconds left in the first period.

CAMDEN HOSTS PTA ART SHOW

Camden hosted their first PTA Art Show this year in the cafeteria last Wednesday, Feb. 9, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 that night.

As you walked into the usually packed and littered Camden cafeteria a new sight was beheld. The cafeteria was still packed with about 600 people showing up through the night. However, the litter had turned to a varied collection of clay-made objects, macrame works, objects made from driftwood, hand-knitted floor and wall rugs and objects made from metal scraps soldered together.

The most frequently seen things were the paintings that decorated the cafeteria walls. These were made from most anything ranging as far as leather cut-out pictures and paintings on wood and little round smooth rocks.

Also in the cafeteria were art students on two long tables down the center of the room. These students demonstrated their different talents in the art field and showed how their projects were accomplished.

Right outside of the cafeteria door a crowd gathered to watch Rich Heinrichs who was demonstrating how he used a spray gun in doing some of his colorful pictures that were displayed inside.

Mr. Matulich, head of the Art Dept. at Camden was in charge of the art show that night and was assisted by Mr. Mc Laggen, an art teacher at Camden.

ART SHOW DISPLAY---Julie Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Nelson, shows crafts and pictures made by students at Camden High School, including those by herself and her sister, Joyce. The art work was on display at a recent P.T.A. meeting at the high school.

Program offers learning choices after graduation

What after high school? To answer this question, the parents of students who are juniors or seniors at Campbell or Westmont High Schools, are invited to a program which will be held at Westmont High School, Thursday, February 17 at 7:30 p.m.

Planned for the program are speakers on various alternatives to four year colleges. For those who may want to continue their education at a junior college, Will Alleman, counselor at West Valley, will explain transfer programs from West Valley to other colleges and Charles Tyler, also a counselor at West Valley, will give information on two year career programs.

Opportunities for full time employment will be covered by Mr. Knowdell, guidance counselor at the Santa Clara office of education, and apprenticeship programs will be outlined by Mr. Leal, coordinator of industrial arts at San Jose City College and Mr. Meiss, Campbell High School District vocational counselor.

Representatives from a business college, a beautician's college and the military, will also be present.

"This decision is important to a student's future and it is vitally important for parents to be well informed on these answers," Mrs. Parker, counselor at Campbell High School said, in urging as many parents as possible to participate.

Hardy proposes policy changes

Two weeks ago Jim Hardy, president of West Valley College, proposed a district reorganization plan calling fot two assistant superintendents instead of four.

Hardy's proposal, which came under study by trustees of West Valley College last Thursday night, was held to the February 17 meeting for possible approval by the board.

In answer to questions posed by some trustees Hardy noted the reorganizational plan, if adopted, would be part of board policy and that various jobs proposed under the plan would be brought back to the governing board over the next few months for approval of job descriptions and salary ranges.

VARSITY UPSET

Campbell's Varsity Basketball team on Tuesday, Feb. 8, played one of the best and most exciting games of the season against the Del Mar Dons.

The score was close throughout the whole game. The first quarter ended with a one point lead for Campbell and at half-time the score stood 28-25 for Del Mar. From then on the score bounced back and forth between the two teams. John Parisi, John Forbes, Dave Bush, Dan Takacs, and Steve Davis who were the starting line-up for Campbell played the whole game with no substitutions.

Bush and Davis scored 14 points, Takacs 13 points, Forbes 10, and Parisi 6. Del Mar made their last attempt to win the game in the last seven seconds. They shot for the basket but it hit the rim and missed and the game was over with a final score of 57-56.

Campbell's Varsity Buc's beat the Los Gatos Wildcats in their own gym on Friday, Feb. 4. John Parisi did a fantastic job, leading his team with 23 points, 18 of which were already scored by half-time. Dave Bush added 17 points, while Steve Davis and John Forbes each bucketed 5. The Buc's came out on top with a final score of 57-50.

Dave Bush who led the Buc's with 30 points in Friday night's game against Camden teamed up with Steve Davis and John Parisi to give Campbell a win with a score of 90-83.

John Parisi contributed 19 points, while Steve Davis and Dan Takacs each scored 15. Meanwhile in Del Mar's gym, Saratoga was losing their sole first-place title. There's now a three-way tie for first place with Del Mar, Saratoga and of course Campbell.

Campbell's Chess team picked up the championship for the second year in a row, by beating Camden on Feb. 1, with a score of 4½–2½. A Chess match is scored by a win counting as one point, a loss as none, and a tie counting as ½ point each. Each member of the team takes on his opponent by himself, and his win or loss contributing to the total team score.

Campbell's second Variety show of the year will be tonight in the Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. The cost will be $1 or 75-cents plus a paperback for adults and 75-cents or 50-cents plus a paperback for students. Your paperback book will be donated to the Campbell High School English Department.

Fruity franks add dinner-zest

Hot Dogs! Swathed in mustard and wrapped in a steaming bun; they are a great American tradition and a nifty solution to impromptu dinners.

But don't make the mistake of confining the hot dog to football games and picnics.

Surprise your family with a zesty, Polynesian-inspired meat and fruit combo. The recipe can be easily doubled or tripled and pork, chicken or bologna can be substituted for the hot dogs.

FRUIT 'N FRANKS

One tablespoon each: cornstarch, brown sugar.

One-half teaspoon curry powder.

Pinch each: cloves, ginger.

One and one-third cup orange juice.

Four or five frankfurters, cut in one-inch pieces.

One cup canned fruit cocktail, drained.

One-fourth cup each: raisins, mushrooms, walnuts.

Put cornstarch, brown sugar and spices in a sauce pan. Stir in orange juice and cook over medium heat until thick and smooth. Add all other ingredients and heat. Serve over hot rice. Makes two and one-third cups.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

Saturday's All-Star match with Southern California saw some interesting contrasts. Their regular game is doubles while ours is singles competition. S.C.D.A. took eight of the ten singles games while the Nor-Cal crew took three out of the five doubles games.

S.C.D.A. won the final team game to win the event 17-8. Scoring is ten singles games at one point each, five doubles games at two points each and a final team game for five points.

The kind of darts that were shot can be told from the statistics charts of the ten singles games there was one 14-dart game, four 15-dart games, a 19-dart game, three 21-dart games with the longest game of the series being over in 23 darts.

This works out to an average of 17.9 darts per game, 16.8 points per dart or 50+ points for each trip to the board by the winners.

The two winners for Nor-Cal in the singles were the La Rue's Ben Macredes and Lancashire Lad's Eric Branthwaite. Nor-Cal was down three games to naught when Ben shot a resounding 103-out (triple 1, triple 20, double 20) in a 15-dart game.

DOUBLES MATCHES

All five of the doubles matches went three games. In all cases Nor-Cal won the first leg. The first doubles went to Nor-Cal's Don Halter and Tony Chavarria. After they had split 1-1, Tony took the rubber game with a 62-out (triple 10, double 16).

Ben Macredes shot a 152-away in the second game with Roy Jack and Jim Ouelette which the S.C.D.A.'ers took in 11 darts. The Macredes finished it off with Ben taking one dart to hit the double 8.

Dave Cottington and Ed Snyder came back to win two straight after losing the first leg to Stan Brassey and John Vieira. Larry Kerbs and Graham Faulkner did the same thing to Dave Steele and John Panos. The third match that Nor-Cal won was Eric Branthwaite and Roy Haslam over John White and Reece Keller.

TEAM GAMES

S.C.D.A. took the team match in two straight games. Both teams popped tons (100's) in the first game but the southerners hit the double on their 61st dart. They took the second game in 55 darts.

At the intermission Nor-Cal Ladies Champ Pat Orechwa played the S.C.D.A. Ladies Champ LaDonna Hemple for the California Ladies title. LaDonna took the first game but Pat came back strong to finish off the next two.

Pat shot high scores of 83, 78, and 74 while LaDonna shot an 85 in the first game. After that LaDonna only had one turn at the board where she hit over 50.

BOARD GAMES

After all the serious darts shot on Saturday night the two executive boards had a match at the LaMasque in Venice, the comic relief for the weekend. There were seven members from each board in attendance. The decision was to shoot seven singles and one team game. All games to be shot two out of three.

The S.C.D.A. boards won the first three matches. Then Diablo League Governor Ray Rahmer defeated Garth Carlson and Competition Secretary Tom Carroll beat the S.C.D.A. Secretary Tom Fleetwood. S.C.D.A. was now ahead 3-2. Nor-Cal Pres. Tom Lawrence dropped his match to S.C.D.A. junior board member Jim Kelly. Chabot League Governor Mike Lanin finished the singles by playing S.C.D.A. prexy "Capt. Blob" (Dick Matreun). The "Blob" took the first game but Mike shot a powerful second game, a 15-dart game that could have been over in 10.

Mike shot a 51-away followed by a 133 and a 115. The "Blob" won the final game when Mike went bust with 115 left by shooting a 135.

The Nor-Cal board took the team match. Since it was only worth two points the S.C.D.A. board won by a score of 5-4.

A for your thoughts

DIAMONDS IN THE ROUGH

Sometimes it's hard to find —the beauty in the dust in the corner, in the heaps of our belongings, scattered about like a giant wind blew through. It's always there, but we have to look for it.

To look into the round, dirty face with candy in her hair and a crystal tear in her eye; into the piercing blue eyes and wiggily waddle that goes hand-in-hand with a dirty pair of diapers, into the outrageous impatience of a scarred and tattered ragamuffin trying so hard to become the man he will someday be. At the end of the day, I wonder if I can possibly muster the strength to greet my man with a smile, instead of a snarl.

Was it hard for him too—to find beauty in a six o'clock alarm, in "ten times ten" demands on every minute of his working day, the endless sitting and concentrating. And yet it's there for him too; in the smile on a friend's face, the feeling of accomplishment despite weary bones.

He arrives home ready for a soft chair and some cherished moments of relaxation, often to meet a barrage of tangled arms and legs, the screams of delight, and of indignation. He has to look hard also—the beauty and hope is always there, only waiting for us to brush aside the dust and peek beneath.

BUTTON, BUTTON, WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON

Silly and outrageous as they are, buttons and bumperstickers seem to be sweeping the country. Sometimes funny, sometimes sad or angry, they assault us with their presence.

Let's look at some of the funnier ones: Happiness is a dirty button, My Head is a Depressed Area, By the Time You Find Out Where I Am, I'll Be Somewhere Else, Ban Weather, Mother Hubbard Is My Connection, Feed Twiggy, Martha Washington Wears Stretch Pants, The Jolly Green Giant Has Elephantiasis, and then there's Argentina is Alive and Somewhere In Brazil, and Does Fu Manchu?

Never want to see another bumpersticker or button in your life? Can't blame you. Neither do I. Better be prepared though, the Presidential Election is just around the corner.

A TOUCH OF THE LIGHT

A newly married couple were having a bit of trouble deciding who was going to "wear the pants in the family." One afternoon, in the middle of a VIFG (Very Important Football Game), the young bridegroom yelled to his wife in the kitchen, "How about some liquid refreshment."

"How about a six letter word to go with your request," retorted his wife.

"How about two six letter words," replied the young man, "like hustle your bustle."

Also included in the opening series of performances are "South Pacific," the San Francisco Ballet, San Jose Symphony with Philippe Entremont, Allyn Ferguson's "Evening With The Stars," and "An Evening With Lillian Gish."

The theater's lighting, sound and staging facilities received a test run with a preview series of performances which included SJCMT's "Oliver!" and The Los Gatos-Saratoga Symphony in concert.

SKI TRIP

A ski trip to Squaw Valley is planned by St. Lucy's Youth Council for the weekend of Feb. 25, 26 and 27. Cost of the snow-frolic is $33, so the teens have been busy raising funds for the venture.

For the past two Sundays they served coffee and donuts at each mass. The youth also sponsored a parish square dance last Friday.

4H CLUB MEMBERS

by Clare Carlson

El Sereno 4-H Club held its monthly community meeting on February 8, at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Saratoga.

As part of the business meeting, the following project and committee reports were given: Rabbit Field Day, Richard Zurlo; Pony, Adele Carlson; Dog Care, Clare Creegan; Off-to-a-Good Start, April Lindsey; Wildlife, Janet Snouse; Home Economics Field Day, Bernadette Montalbano; "We Care" committee, Lewis Zurlo; Vegetable Garden, Michelle Lauer; Bowling Party, Richard Zurlo; Skating Party, Randy Cone; Share-the-Fun, Jeff Palumbo; and Deena Rossi, Poppy Planting.

Committees set up were a Project Tour Committee (to organize the annual tour of projects) and a Community Service Committee to look into a trash collection and planting a tree on Arbor Day.

The club ruled against planting wild poppies at this time, as it was discovered that they should be planted in November.

It was Parents' Night for the baking contest, and most of the parents and leaders participated, bringing drop-cookies to be judged. The results were announced in a "tongue-in-cheed" presentation, during which the judges complained of "heartburn", lumps in the cookies that were not chocolate chips, and other comparable things.

The winners were: for the ladies, Carolyn Hill, first; Mrs. Rossi, second; and Audrey Carlson, third. For the men, Richard Zurlo, Sr., first; Tom Snouse, second; and Ronald Cone, third. They all received Tums, Pepto-Bismol and Alka Seltzer as prizes.

Following the business meeting, two demonstrations were given by our club members. Trisha Cone gave "How to Live with a 13-year-old Brother," Donald Duffin presented "The Sinkable Santa Clara Valley," a talk on perculation ponds and water conservation.

The visitors for the night were Margie Southard, Kathy Alzoni, Kim Nellany and Carol Nellany from Green Acres 4-H. They gave a presentation on public speaking that included how to make a motion, introductions, and impromptu speeches by members.

School arson prompts start of special fund

Arsonists responsible for the Jan. 16 fire which gutted the offices and damaged student's records at Quito Elementary School are still being sought by police.

Persons offering information leading to the arrest and conviction of the vandalists, will be rewarded with funds pooled by concerned teachers, and parents.

Individuals with information are urged to phone Galen D. Wilcox, school principal, at 379-4430.

The reward is substantial since citizens and staff are anxious to receive information which might help apprehend the arsonists.

The offices at Quito School were considered a total loss and will have to be completely rebuilt.

Speakers, films, spice West Valley program

The world of flying saucers, foreign relations, "Romeo and Juliet", Mexican music, and W.C. Fields will unfold this spring at West Valley College in the form of guest lectures, films, plays and a live band.

Stanton Friedman, a nuclear physicist, convinced after 13 years of study that the earth is being visited by intelligently controlled vehicles from outer space, will speak on that topic March 1.

Lecturing on "The Future of American Democracy" on March 24 will be Dr. Hans Morgenthau, who has served as consultant to the Department of Defense and as senior fellow to the Council on Foreign Relations.

The last voyage of the Africa-rounding Barkentine Verona will be described April 4 by Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart in an illustrated lecture presentation.

W.C. Fields packs in laughs in his 90-minute film, "Sally of the Sawdust", showing April 6 for five cents.

Mexico's most popular brass band, "Ramirez Brass", will appear in concert on May 9.

The New Shakespeare Company which has performed for more than four years in San Francisco and the greater Bay Area, presents "Romeo and Juliet" on June 2.

The spring series draws to a close June 9 when Dr. Uvaldo Palomares, who was reared in a Spanish speaking environment as the son of migrant farm workers, speaks on "The Chicano in Transition".

There is no charge for any of the events except "Romeo and Juliet." Nevertheless, tickets are required.

Available one month prior to each event, they may be picked up from West Valley College's Community Services office, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26, telephone 379-1733, ext. 58.

Walkin' Walter strides 7 mph

A Campbell great grandfather, Walkin' Walter Osborne, will be among the city's representatives in the 20-mile March 12 Walk-A-Thon scheduled to raise money to fight birth defects--and he is looking for sponsors.

Funds he and the other Walk-A-Thon participants raise will go to the March of Dimes against birth defects.

It is anticipated that most of the walkers will be teenagers, but older participants like 65-year-old Osborne are equally welcome!

Osborne began walking to relieve tension, that, combined with an old head injury, was causing him blackouts.

He was clocking 20 to 30 miles a day, and suffering no more blackouts, until this fall, when he began to spend more time at home because of his wife's illness.

Now, however, she is better, and he is beginning to get in shape in preparation for the Walk-A-Thon.

You can't miss Osborne when he is walking. Now he is wearing a special shirt advertising the Walk-A-Thon; usually he wears one on which he has his name.

He makes his own individualized shirts by cutting letters from iron-on patches.

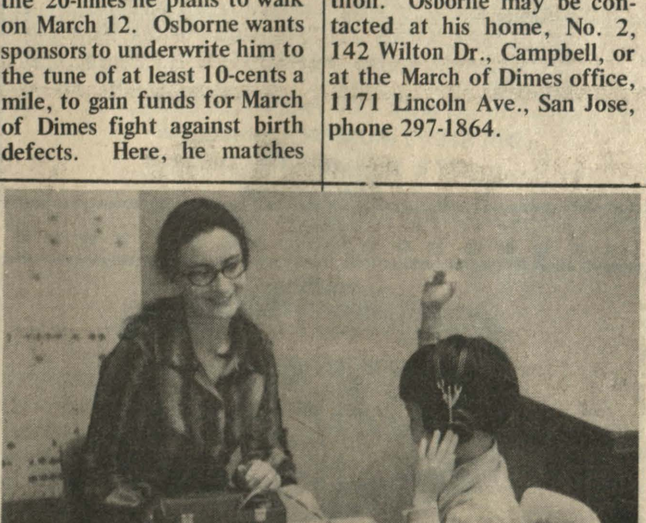
The Osborne walk is something special. He throws up his chin, puts his shoulder blades together, and pulls in his stomach. Feet go out in lengthy stride, heel first in time to music coming from a transistor radio around his neck. He is timed at about seven miles an hour.

Individuals who want to join Walkin' Walter Osborne of Campbell in the Walk-A-Thon may get sponsor sheets from any 7-11 Stores or from the March of Dimes headquarters, 1171 Lincoln Ave., San Jose. Some schools have a supply.

Prospective sponsors may call him at the March of Dimes, 297-1864.

MARCH OF DIMES
MARCH OF DIMES

SHAPING UP---Walkin' Walter Osborne, a Campbell great grandfather, is looking for March of Dimes sponsors for the 20-miles he plans to walk on March 12. Osborne wants sponsors to underwrite him to the tune of at least 10-cents a mile, to gain funds for March of Dimes fight against birth defects. Here, he matches strides with Marty Mim Mack, 10, of Campbell former March of Dimes poster child and grand marshall for the walkathon. Osborne may be contacted at his home, No. 2, 142 Wilton Dr., Campbell, or at the March of Dimes office, 1171 Lincoln Ave., San Jose, phone 297-1864.



FOR GOOD HEALTH---Mrs. Karen Coy, school nurse, tests Philip Nakashima's hearing. Phillip's upraised arm indicates that he hears the sounds. School nurses' occupations go beyond sending notices for communicable diseases.

School nurses offer help

"This is the school nurse. Your child isn't feeling well..."

As a parent was this your first contact with the school nurse?

Or was it a note sent home proclaiming exposure to measles or mumps?

The job of the seven nurses within the Campbell Union School District encompasses much more, from public relations to appropriate handling of drug abusers.

Developing a health curricula, promoting the well-being of the school staff, controlling communicable diseases, and helping pupils with incurable health problems like diabetes, allergy, or epilepsy are all part of the picture for the school nurse.

Plans are now underway for the diagnostic screening of September's kindergarteners by the nursing and psychological staffs.

Children are tested in the areas of hearing, vision, muscular coordination and school readiness to allow time for personal growth and to insure proper placement.

Junior high students find out about the job world

Is age 12 too young to decide on the future?

Junior high school students at Campbell Elementary School got some guidance as to what kind of preparation is needed for certain careers as well as an insight into many and varied occupations today as they attended two of 17 special programs conducted by members of their faculty and the community.

According to Carol Crow, school counselor, 525 students participated in the program, conducted in two one-hour sessions, in which art, computer programing and heavy equipment operation were just three of the subjects selected by the students.

John Atkinson, husband of one of the school's faculty members, a commercial artist and graphic design illustrator, showed his class a promotion of ad campaigns conducted in a humorous vein.

Students interested in computer careers signed up to hear Mrs. Connie Hemminger, a senior scientific programmer at Lockheed. The Emporium lent Miss Jan Jarvis, a divisional sales manager, and Dr. Phil Blair, professor at San Jose State College, conducted a class in engineering.

Students were given the opportunity to select two classes and were given tickets to "admit" them to a sixth and a seventh period class.

Jack Christianson of the Campbell Fire Department discussed jobs in the fire service, while Henri Zander gave the students background on heavy equipment operating and contracting careers.

Jeweler and gemologist Mrs. Sallie Morton brought a gem microscope and samples of colored diamonds and Ralph Steinberg, a member of the Campbell Union School District's Board of Trustees and a practicing attorney, told of a lawyer's work.

Another trustee, Dr. Robert King, a Campbell veterinarian, showed students a film taken at the University of California at Davis on careers in veterinary medicine.

For the mechanically minded, Len Willis, body shop manager at Carl Chevrolet, explained schooling and journeyman programs for mechanics and body shop men, as well as preventative maintenance and repair costs.

School Nurse Mrs. Peggy Mangano was utilized in the program to tell of nursing careers and Mrs. Harriet Zander, school psychologist, also participated. Mrs. Peggy Pack, who is a secretary in the school district's main office, told of high school courses which would help the prospective secretary.

Social work was explained by two members of the Eastfield staff, Mrs. Dorinda Ennis and Mrs. Linda Hills, and the job of a stewardess by Mrs. Vicki Zeronis.

A panel of teachers, Bruce Mund, Jean Molnar, Ron Smith and Barbara Davis, discussed teaching careers and Mrs. Sally Howe, of the Campbell Press, gave a background on newspaper work.

School faculty and students expressed enthusiasm about doing the program on an annual basis (seventh graders, in particular, since they would be able to participate again next year). In the coming weeks, the students will evaluate the program and discuss expansion of the subjects.

SCRUTINY

Comments on the Arts
by
Ed Ditterline

Remember the old days when movies were filmed in black and white? Remember the heavy, oily smell of the too-salty popcorn? "The Last Picture Show", now showing at Century 22B Theater in San Jose brings back a hundred such memories.

While the film is more a documentary than an entertainment, it is a brilliant feat of movie-making. It dissects the most minute events which occur in a tiny Texas town in the early fifties. Somewhat reminiscent of "Peyton Place", the movie follows the small town gossip, the going steady and the love affairs which made Peyton Place so famous.

Peter Bogdanovich, the director, brings to life a town so much more real than Peyton Place and events much sadder than "Summer of '42".

Timothy Bottoms, who played the leading role in Dalton Trumbo's "Johnny Got His Gun", is cast as a very sensitive and confused teenager who somehow becomes the lover of the wife of his football coach. She's a very lonely, middle-aged woman who needs his companionship almost as much as he needs hers. Chloris Leachman gives an outstanding performance as the coach's wife. She undoubtedly deserves an Oscar nomination, at least.

Ellen Burnston is the match-making mother who has more dark shadows in her past and present than she can count. Her primary occupation seems to be trying to get her daughter married off to someone rich. When she sees this is impossible, she's determined to get her daughter married to anyone who will take her.

Cover girl Cybill Shepherd plays the daughter who teases her way in and out of the heart of practically every boy in town. My only criticism of the movie is that Miss Shepherd seems to be a little too chic for the other characters in the movie. While she uses her beauty to her best advantage, she seems to stick out like a diamond in a coal bin. (Would that all women had such a problem!)

Ben Johnson, the veteran cowboy actor is Sam the Lion, the town philosopher who owns the pool hall, cafe and picture show. Sam had great plans for himself which never materialized, he says, because of the "social climate". And he had an affair with a young girl a long time ago. The identity of the girl is kept a secret until near the end of the movie.

"The Last Picture Show" is not a fast-moving or even exciting film in the sense of most movies filmed nowadays. It doesn't have hardly any of the violence either. AND it's filmed in black and white. Perhaps these are some of the reasons it's so beautiful. While it's a part of the nostalgia mood which we are still going through, it certainly outshines any other "nostalgia movie" to come along so far.

The meaning of the film's title becomes clear when the local movie-house is forced to close its doors because television has taken its patrons. The last film shown is Howard Hawk's classic western "Red River". Somehow, when the movie-house (the last sign of life in the town) closes down, you just expect the dust to blow the tiny town away.

EKG cards may save your life

That precious things come in small sizes is especially true now that pharmacists throughout California are reducing patient's electrocardiograms (EKG) to wallet size, for use in case of a heart emergency.

With the theme "Beat the Big One", the California Pharmaceutical Association's Academy of Community Practice (CPhA) in cooperation with the heart association, are making the "EKG Heart Saver Wallet Cards" available to patients during February's Heart-Health Education Campaign.

In the event of a sudden heart attack, a physician can quickly diagnose the victim's heart condition by comparing the "heart-saver card with a new EKG.

The extra dash of speed in diagnosis could go far in saving lives.

The wallet-size cards are especially beneficial to persons with healthy hearts, since comparison of normal EKG on the wallet card with the EKG during an attack can help physicians determine the source and extent of the problem.

Persons wishing to obtain "EKG Heart-Saver Cards" may pick up an application packet from any CPhA-member pharmacy and return it with a copy of their latest electrocardiogram from the attending doctor.

Given a $3 fee to cover costs, the pharmacist will send the EKG chart for processing, notifying the patient when the wallet-size card is ready.

Free heart-health literature, also available at the pharmacies gives tips on recognizing the symptoms and reducing the risk of cardiovascular disease, the nation's number one killer.

Prospect's Prophecies

by Phyllis Voigt

MISS SARATOGA

At 5'7", 130 pounds, 16-year-old Tina Fisch is Miss Saratoga in the California preliminaries of the Miss Teen-age America Pageant.

Tina's mother entered her in the contest without her knowledge. When it was discovered that the judges were interested in learning more about Tina, she was finally told. "You've GOT to be kidding!" was her first reaction. She felt she didn't have a chance among the 500 entrants.

She was interviewed, and given many forms to fill out. The contest is judged on the basis of poise, personality, appearance, goals, and service to the community. There is no talent division.

Tina is very active at school and in her church. She is a member of the National Forensic League, a part of Speech and Debate; and has a part in the Prospect all-class play, "My Fair Lady." She teaches fifth grade Sunday school and attends Bible study classes at Bethel Lutheran Church in Cupertino.

She was a contestant in the Miss Santa Clara Pageant last year, playing the piano in the talent division, and was chosen as one of thirty finalists.

When she learned that she had won the title of Miss Saratoga, she was bewildered at first, but "I just felt--good," she said. "It's a great feeling."

The "Girlfriend," a dress shop in Saratoga, is sponsoring Tina and giving her $100 traveling expense money when she goes to Santa Barbara in June to compete for the title of Miss California against 249 other girls.

She is thrilled and excited about meeting all the girls from the rest of the state...and a little scared.

Tina likes to sing, play the piano, and act. She wants to go on to a private college or a state university, then join the Peace Corps.

The lucky Prospect junior feels that winning this phase of the pageant has changed her. She feels she is more level-headed, more stable.

When asked her opinion on racial tensions and prejudice, she said she is not prejudiced. "We are all one race, the HUMAN race, no matter what color we are." She says that, regardless of what our backgrounds are, we are all Americans. She likes people for WHAT they are, not what COLOR.

On the Vietnam war, she stated emphatically that she is against war, but feels that we should fight for what is right.

"You'd stick up for your best friend, wouldn't you," she asked. "Then shouldn't we stick up for what we believe is the right thing?" She feels that anti-war marches and demonstrations are definitely not a sign of maturity, and that they aren't doing any good. "I think that what President Nixon is doing is right. He's doing the best he can." But she is for PEACE.

Tina feels more conscientious now, after being selected to represent Saratoga. She feels that, when she is with a certain group of people, she is constantly being judged as to whether or not she deserves the honor she has received.

the PruneYard is the Mercado Olivera, designed as an ornate early California marketplace with a bazaar type atmosphere which will have its grand opening in May. The Mercado Olivera is complemented by three movie theaters and eight restaurants for continuous nighttime activity and entertainment.

Steel frame and concrete slab type roof construction will be used in the erecting of the new 10-story anodized aluminum and glass office building and it is anticipated that the building will even beat the construction rate of the first high-rise office building, "The Towers".

Voter registration to rise 20% before June election

Before next June primary election Santa Clara County's voter registration roles will have increased by about 20 per cent, according to the County's Assistant Registrar of Voters Hans H. Harder.

Harder said most of the new voters will be either young people recently enfranchised by the 26th amendment or people brought into the electoral process by political groups and public service organizations.

At the end of last year total registration was about 400,000 while it is expected that by the June primary election the number will increase to 500,000.

"It seems like everywhere you turn people are becoming more concerned with political activity. We've always had political groups organizing and registering voters, but never like this," Harder said.

Harder said that as a rough estimate about 30 to 40 per cent of the increase is attributable to the 18 to 20-year-old citizens. He said he based his estimate solely on the number of people who listed their occupation as student, since ages are not listed.

Last year the County Planning Department projected that there would be 50,000 to 60,000 potential new county voters with the ratification of the 26th amendment. Based on that figure, and on Harder's estimate, about 60 per cent of these new voters will register by the primary election.

Harder said that in a normal week about 150 voters register, but that the average for recent weeks has been around 2,000. The Registrar of Voters' Office is conducting three to four Deputy Registrar classes per week to keep up with the increasing demand.

Another new law, one that requires a facsimile of the ballot printed in Spanish to be available to the voter, is adding to the numbers of new voters. Harder said that his office is receiving many more requests to train bilingual deputy registrars.

Harder reports that between now and the June primary his office will supervise 23 special elections in Santa Clara County. Since the average number of special elections is one per week the Registrar's office will handle a considerable increase in workload.

Harder said that anyone who is eligible to vote may register at any firehouse, with a deputy registrar, or at the Registrar of Voters' Office at 45 W. St. James Street, San Jose.

DIGGING DEEP---A red-faced Len Edholm, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, as recently selected by Campbell JayCee Young Man of the Year, digs into his pockets for fines levied by collector Bob Bullard. The event occurred at a meeting of the Campbell Rotary Club, where each week "fines" are collected from members who receive publicity in the community. Rotary uses these fines in their philanthropic work.

Planning

Planning Commission recommended that the area be held to low density developments.

The modified site plan for the Amato property that will come before the Planning Commission next Tuesday has been changed from the original plan that was approved by a 5-2 vote. The density has been lowered by eliminating some of the town house complexes and increasing the number of single family dwellings. The new plan also calls for an increase in lot size for the single family units.

The revised plan was referred to the Commission by a 3-2 vote of the City Council on Monday.

Other items on next Tuesday's agenda include the plans for the expansion of the Wheelaway Bike Center

Explorers try out vocations

An Explorer program in electronics started recently at Campbell High with an open forum discussion. Bill English was elected president of that Explorer Post.

The previous week the Pioneer District's Explorers held their first meeting of the year, a forum for interested students and parents, at Mervyn's, Princeton Plaza.

A large number of girls expressed their interest in cost accounting and sales programs. Other areas currently open to Explorers are law, public health, medicine, school administration, communications and many others.

The Explorer Program, part of the Boy Scouts of America, is designed to acquaint young men and women with vocational opportunities, by having local businessmen sponsor a Post within their organization.

FROM ABROAD --- Members of Campbell Rotary enjoy remarks by Pierre Romelaer, Rotary Foundation graduate student presently attending Stanford University. Romelaer is working on a Doctorate in Economics and lives with his wife in Palo Alto. Attentive listeners are Myron Alexander, president, and Dave Valkenaar, president of Campbell JayCees.

SCOUT EXECUTIVE---Randy Arciniega, 23, was recently appointed assistant district executive of the Pioneer District, according to Dick Kimery, district scouting executive. Arciniega will fill the position vacated by Jon O'Leary who left to become district scout executive of the Golden Empire Council in Sacramento. Arciniega, who has a math degree from University of California at Riverside, worked as a counselor with several groups of young people.

Many so-called disorders of the body are caused by nerve flow block located somewhere in the spinal column. This block cuts off life energy to some part of your body, causing pain and other disorders to that part of your body.

Postal service tests new special delivery system

A 60-day initial test of a system to speed up special delivery letters and packages is now in effect, according to Postmaster Bill Jennings.

"The need for the program, which will visibly separate special delivery mail from other mail as it moves between post offices, has been indicated by special test mailings," Jennings said.

Special delivery letters and parcels in the entire U.S. Postal Service's western region will now be enclosed in transparent plastic bags imprinted with the word "Speedy" in large green letters. This new identification will prevent special delivery pieces from being overlooked or intermixed with regular first-class mail at receiving stations.

The new operation will be evaluated on a daily basis by test mailings during the next 60 days.

The "speedy" program will be executed at 4,499 post offices in the western region which encompasses the 13 western states including Alaska and Hawaii.

Postmaster Jennings said that studies have shown special delivery mail to be liable to delay within post offices when it gets intermixed with standard first-class mail. This causes it to miss special delivery "runs."

Jennings pointed out that the public also frequently contributes to slow movement of special delivery mail because of the unwise habit of dropping special delivery mail into street collection boxes or other mail deposit points without checking whether there will be a reasonable quick pickup afterwards.

He recommended that special delivery mail is best deposited at a post office, where it can move promptly to the station that will finally deliver it. He also suggested that mailers consider whether a particular item should go via air mail special delivery, to ensure the fastest possible movement in transit as well as at the destination.

FIRST CAMPBELL PHONEBOOK--Mrs. Myron Alexander, 48 S. Third St., Campbell, admires the color picture of Campbell city hall on the cover of the very first Campbell, Saratoga, San Martin 1972 phonebook – hand-delivered by Jim Bower, local Pacific Telephone manager. Bower urges subscribers who have not yet received their directory to call the telephone business office. (Yes, that was the only directory he delivered.)

Campbell city hall photo appears on phone directory

It's been confirmed now that Campbell City Hall has been "covering up" for the phone company–that is, it's on the cover of the new Campbell, San Martin and Saratoga phone book just delivered, according to local phone manager Jim Bower.

Actually, it's a color print of the Campbell City Hall from a dramatic night-time photo using only the internal and external lighting from the building to illuminate the shot.

If a subscriber has not yet received his directory Bower urges them to phone the business office.

For the first time, San Martin will be able to dial 411 for Directory Assistance and 611 for repair service.

Changes in the new directory include:

–A "zip-ier" back cover that now includes reference to Zip Codes, other communities and introductory pages. A Zip Code map for San Jose and surrounding cities is included at the front of the Yellow Pages.

–Space is now provided in the inside back cover for frequently called numbers.

–The area code on the locale covered by the directory is now on the "hinge" or binding of the book for quick reference.

–Two extra pages for long distance rates within California are now included, and the page containing rates for unassisted out-of-state calls has been expanded and goes into more detail.

–All rate pages have been revised to include the dates holiday rates are effective.

–A helpful hints page now includes reference to the "Yellow Page" of government offices.

–San Jose State College, which just installed a direct-dial Centrex phone system, now has two separate columns of listings for people to dial the called party direct rather than having to go through the college switchboard.

–Telegram information on the general business page has been changed, so customers must now dial Western Union to place a telegram, cablegram or radiogram.

–For subscribers with a consumer complaint, there's a brand new white page listing group–"Consumer Complaint & Protection Coordinators," including numbers of local, state and federal government agencies which assist various consumer problems.
